To whom this may concern;

Ginger Mayerson and I have been friends and artist-colleagues for more than twenty years. During that time we have often worked together on projects involving the arts, including a musical collaboration and several occasions when she solicited illustrations or written material from me for publications she edited for her private press and online literary journal. For several years we have been co-presenters of our individual artwork at the annual artist studio tour produced by the Arroyo Arts Collective in N.E. Los Angeles. Most recently Ginger initiated a photography project to help the Friends of the Southwest Museum Coalition in their effort to reopen Los Angeles' first museum.

In every instance of collaboration, I have enjoyed our working relationship. Ginger is professional, organized, generous with her time and expertise, and always meets her deadlines. Her end products are impressive and of a high quality. Her ability to talk about her work has always resulted in sales.

I have no doubt that her experience and personal integrity will make her an asset to any employer's organization. Please do not hesitate to contact me with any questions.

Sincerely,

Carol Colin
